Dear Commissioner:

This communication is a response to a first and non-final Office Action dated March 22, 2005, wherein the Examiner has required drawing sheet or specification correction relative to a reference character shown in the drawings but not mentioned in the specification, specification correction to standardize the spelling of "Binky" as it relates to this application, and has rejected the pending claims based upon Moss alone, Dion-Bildstein alone, or each in combination with several other prior art inventions. The applicant has made the required changes to the specification and also amended her claims in a way that she believes now distinguishes her invention from the prior art. The applicant also believes that her changes to the specification and claims have been made without adding new matter.
